Continuing Education

Learn more about pemphigus and pemphigoid by inviting a patient, scientific speaker, or both to present at your next dental meeting, conference, lecture, or event!

The International Pemphigus & Pemphigoid Foundation (IPPF) offers presentations with strong emotional appeals to increase information retention. These combined presentations feature both a patient and a scientific presenter. Our unique format gives attendees the chance to learn about the clinical presentation, diagnosis, and management of pemphigus and pemphigoid from two different perspectives.

Course Learning Objectives

By the end of this course, participants will:

- Know the key questions to ask when determining whether a patient might have pemphigus vulgaris (PV) or mucous membrane pemphigoid (MMP).
- Understand dental management techniques for PV/MMP patients.
- Realize the dental professional's unique role in reducing diagnostic delays.
- Understand appropriate biopsy* techniques and referral patterns when PV/MMP is suspected.

- Feel more confident and knowledgeable in diagnosing and managing PV/MMP.

Additional Information

- Courses can be adapted to meet your needs, but are usually between 1-3 hours.
- While the IPPF is not accredited to provide CE credits, we will work with you to get the course approved through your respective channels.
- For large audiences, the IPPF can often pay for speakers' travel and honorarium.
